

STUDENTS OF SANSKRITI PAINT .

Sanskriti students and Art Department partnered with The Kailash Satyarthi Children's Foundation (KSCF), set up by Nobel Peace Laureate, Mr. Kailash Satyarthi, is a global thought leader for prevention of exploitation and violence against children. KSCF works for the creation of a child-friendly world through direct interventions and programmes, research and capacity building, and campaigns for the mobilization of mass support and behavior change.

On Saturday 6th October morning as a part of BMM (Bal Mitra Mandal), in 'Rang Badlav Ke' Program senior students of Sanskriti School painted the walls Sanjay Camp, an urban slum of over 10,000 people in the heart of Chanakyapuri - surrounded by the embassies of the world.

The majority of the people who serve and clean Chanakyapuri and keep it beautiful reside in Sanjay Camp. Spreading the message - Let us work together and make their community beautiful in time for Diwali!

We can give the children and the community a vibrant atmosphere and work towards building a child-friendly community.
