

Vasant Valley Debate

Sanskriti School sent a team of three students- Aaron Johnson, Lusha Jetley and Yastika Guru- for the exalted India Today debate at Vasant Valley school on the 26th and 27th of October. Debating a range of motions, from military intervention in North Korea to the romanticization of the Communist revolution, our students performed extraordinarily well. Having the second highest collective speaker scores in the preliminary rounds, they qualified to the quarter finals after winning all three debates on the first day. They unfortunately had to bow out after losing their debate against the host school team. Yastika Guru was recognised with the third best speaker award.
